DR. DAVID VELLA

BSc BVSc(Hons) (DABVP
Exotic) Companion
Animals

Dr David Vella graduated with a Bachelor of Science (1992) and a Bachelor of Veterinary Science (1996) – both from the University of Sydney. In 2009, David became a Diplomate of the American Board of Veterinary Practitioners in Exotic Companion Mammals, the first and only Australian vet to achieve these credentials. Currently volunteering for NSW WIRES (Wildlife Information Rescue & Emergency Service), Dr Vella is involved in reptile and amphibian rescue. He also trains in handling, rehabilitation, foster care and rescue. Dr Vella is director of Sydney Exotics and Rabbit Vets (SERV) working out of the North Shore Veterinary Specialist Centre.

DR NARELLE WALTER

BVSc, MRCVS

Narelle graduated in 1996 at Melbourne University and worked throughout Victoria as a dairy and large animal veterinarian. She has travelled extensively to New Zealand and the United Kingdom where her interest for rabbits increased. In England, Narelle worked in a large small animal clinic and treated an increasingly large number of rabbit patients over three years. Returning to Australia it became obvious that rabbits were increasing in popularity, especially as inside house rabbits. Narelle concentrates exclusively on rabbits and the occasional guinea pig as both a primary and secondary opinion veterinarian. She offers routine rabbit services including desexings and routine vaccinations, as well as surgical and medical care at her hospital Melbourne Rabbit Clinic.

DR MICHELLE DALLI

BSc BVSc

Michelle graduated from Sydney University in 2005 with a special interest in exotics and wildlife, particularly reptiles. Dr Bingley has worked in various small animal practices since graduation and also had her own mobile veterinary service for reptiles. Now working for David Vella for over four years and loving it, Michelle is particularly focused on surgery and the challenge of performing even routine procedures in exotics. She has developed a strong interest in small mammal medicine. Michelle has two children who love animals and the home is shared with 2 dogs, 3 rabbits, a guinea pig, 6 snakes and a lace monitor.
